Resolutions To Support Third Term Offered

Aftermath From Miners On Lewis New Deal Split

BY E. E. EASTERLY
COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Forty seven resolutions supporting a third term for President Roosevelt were introduced today before the United Mine Workers of America convention, providing an anomalous aftermath to John L. Lewis' split with the New Deal.

No immediate action was taken by the 2,000 delegates on the resolutions from locals in Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Wyoming and Maryland.

Several resolutions were offered opposing use of U. M. W. funds for political campaigns. Lewis, president of the U. M. W. and Congress for Industrial Organizations, put up about $500,000 for the 1936 Democratic campaign.

A hope that Lewis "someday would be president of the United States" was expressed in a resolution from a Sharon, W. Va., group.

Against Dies Committee

The delegates, taking up several hundred of 1,800 resolutions submitted before the jubilee session opened, adopted one opposing continuation of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities. It suggested that the money be turned over to the LaFollette civil liberties committee.

The Roosevelt third term resolutions contrasted sharply with Lewis' prediction yesterday that a campaign to re-elect the president would result in "ignominious defeat."

While there may be some warm debate on these resolutions, there was little likelihood of any being adopted in view of Lewis' stringent control over the convention.

Control Evident Convention

This control was demonstrated yesterday in the midst of a clamor by several UMW districts for autonomy.

As 20 delegates shouted for recognition from the presiding officer, Lewis strode to the microphone and announced:

"There is really nothing to debate. Every district will be given autonomy when it has demonstrated that it wants it and can support itself."

The delegates, representing more than 600,000 mine workers, then reaffirmed a policy empowering the international executive board to decide whether a district should be granted the privilege of self-government.

Lewis, elaborating later on his blast at the Democratic national administration, which he accused of breaking faith with labor and failing to solve major problems such as unemployment and increasing debt and taxation, said:

"I intended my statement this morning to be a distinct jar to professional politicians in the Democratic party and the Republican party. I intended it to serve notice that labor was not to be taken for granted."

Speaking before the organized gas, chemical and coke workers (district 50 of the UMW), Lewis explained further:

"The Democratic party had taken for granted that labor would be with them always. Any politician says he is a friend of labor when he is campaigning because it is politically expedient. In reverse token, he ceases to be a friend of labor when it becomes politically expedient."

The debate over autonomy provided the warmest issue in the convention so far.

Delegates from Illinois, Ohio and West Virginia demanded autonomy "and nothing else." Under the present setup the UMW international board selects their principal district officers.

Report Plot On Ambassador

SHANGHAI, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Lieut.-Col. Jiro Saito, Japanese army spokesman, said tonight he had received information from Nanking of a Chinese plot against the life of United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson, who left Nanking this morning on the American gunboat Luzon enroute to Hankow.

Saito said he was informed the plotters planned to attack the gunboat, using either mines or artillery, "in the hope of blaming the Japanese and thus causing a crisis in Japanese-American relations simultaneously with the expiration of the Japanese-American trade treaty."

(The trade treaty, abrogated by Washington, expires tomorrow). Saito declined to disclose the source of his information.

38 Die As A Ship Hits Mine

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Twelve passengers and 26 crewmen lost their lives today when the 1,752-ton Norwegian steamer Biarritz struck a mine and sank in 30 seconds in the North Sea.

The Norwegian steamer, Borgholm, rescued 12 passengers and seven of the crew, bringing the survivors to Ijmuiden.

The Biarritz went down at 2 a. m. 36 miles northwest of Ijmuiden after a tremendous explosion, which the first officer said was due to a mine.

He said the fact that one lifeboat hung ready in the davits permitted the 19 survivors to get away. The Borgholm was nearby and rescued them.

Threat To Cite Governor Is Made By Judge

Court Disturbed Over Comment From Stark

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Marion D. Waltner today threatened to cite Governor Lloyd C. Stark for contempt of court for his comment on the dismissal by Waltner of neglect of duty indictments against Prosecutor W. W. Graves of Jackson county.

After Graves was freed of the charges, the governor commented: "I think the people of Missouri will understand."

In a prepared statement, the judge said it is up to the governor to prove his "insinuations" that the law and evidence were not followed or "come out with an apology."

Waltner asserted Stark's comment was an "unjustified slander," and that it would be a "cowardly dereliction of duty" for the governor "to remain silent at this time."

Later, the judge said he would cite Stark for contempt "if he does not make a satisfactory answer within a reasonable time."

"This court will of its own motion order the governor to appear here and show cause why he" (Please turn to page 4, col. 4)

Mrs. Demarest In Kiwanis Talk

Mrs. Victoria Booth Demarest, granddaughter of General William Booth, held the rapt attention of Sedalia Kiwanians and their guests in a talk given before the club at its meeting in Bothwell hotel at noon today.

She declared the need for a revival and renewal of Christianity in this country if democracy is to prevail against totalitarianism and atheism. "Only a God-governing people can remain a self-governing people," she admonished.

Mrs. Demarest was introduced by the Rev. E. N. Garrett, program chairman.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club and others were special guests to hear the talk. After the meeting various ones expressed satisfaction in having heard the speaker and stressed the importance of the vital message she has, Mrs. Demarest's last talk of the series in Sedalia will be at the Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

President Paul Hedderich announced a meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen at noon Friday at Kueck's.

Green Critical Over Actions Of The NLRB

Federation Head Calls For Labor Act Amending

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—William Green accused the National Labor Board today of forcing members of AFL West Coast Longshoremen's unions to be represented in collective bargaining by "an alien Communist," the CIO leader Harry Bridges.

Criticizing the board with sharp phrases and calling for four amendments to the National Labor Relations Act, Green, AFL president, shouted to a House investigating committee that the board had "wiped out" his west coast longshoremen's unions as bargaining units.

The board held that the proper unit for west coast longshoremen extended from San Diego to the state of Washington which meant, Green said, that "that man Bridges and his crew were clothed with authority to represent AFL unions."

"It was bad enough," Green said, "to compel the American Federation of Labor unions to be merged with rival groups, but it was increasingly worse when they were compelled to be represented by a man most of us know to be a Communist."

To Congress For Relief
"Judging from the evidence, about all the people in America accept Bridges as a Communist except Dean Landis and Secretary Perkins."

"We are uncompromisingly opposed to such procedure and we are coming to congress for relief. We don't want to be represented by a Communist in collective bargaining."

(Dean James M. Landis of Harvard Law School recently submitted a report to Secretary Perkins in which he said he had found no justification for a charge that Bridges was a Communist.)

Three Fires This Forenoon

Fire believed to have started from an overheated, or defective flue, at the residence of George Manning and Joe Mattox, 1008 East Third street, did about $500 damage to the residence and the furnishings, at 9:47 o'clock this morning.

The fire was discovered by two boys John West, 1308 East Third street and Billy Guymon, 1211 East Third who were on their way to the Relief office. The West boy was pulling a sled on which was riding young Guymon when they saw the fire from Engineer avenue. The two boys hurried to the home telling the occupants of the fire and then ran across the street and turned in the alarm.

When the companies arrived the entire under part of the roof was a mass of flames. A tar paper roof handicapped the firemen along with the severe cold weather, and they fought the blaze for more than an hour and a half.

While at this fire another alarm was received at 11:12 o'clock to the residence of H. A. Brown where the home had caught fire while a workman was thawing out a water pipe. Slight damage resulted.

"Flipping" a match into a can caused a run by the companies at 9:13 o'clock to the residence of Mark Powell, colored, 221 East Jefferson street. After starting a fire the person tossed the match towards a can, believing it was out, but instead it lit into the curtains which immediately flared up. Only slight damage resulted.

The three runs this morning brought the total alarms answered by the fire companies to forty-five, just five less than an average of two alarms each day since the first of the year.

Blaze Destroys A Farm Home

Fire believed to have started from an overheated flue caused the loss of the Jesse Tuggle home on Sedalia route 2 about nine miles southeast of Sedalia this morning. The fire was discovered by Mr. Tuggle about 7:15 o'clock and only part of the furnishings and some clothing was saved by the family and friendly neighbors who hurried to the scene.

The residence was six rooms fully modern. The fire started in the top part of the house and it was impossible to battle the flames, they having gained considerable headway before being discovered.

Besides losing their home and much of the furniture and clothing the Tuggles reported the loss of two diamond rings, a sum of money, the amount not exactly known, 150 quarts of fresh canned fruits and other foodstuffs.

No insurance was carried on the residence or furniture.

The Tuggles family are temporarily residing with the Charles Feedback family who reside nearby.

Possible Lewis Boost Wheeler

Some Believe His Break Lacks Full Support Of Miners

BY HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Political Washington, startled by John L. Lewis' anti-third term statement, was ready to lay odds today that the CIO chieftain is thinking of endorsing Senator Wheeler of Montana for the Democratic presidential nomination.

One report circulated in authoritative congressional circles was that Lewis has turned thumbs down on several different ticket combinations suggested at White House conferences.

At least one of these tickets, it was said, had Wheeler in second place—a nomination which the Montanan has said he would not accept.

Wheeler will address the United Mine Workers' convention at Columbus, Ohio, tomorrow night on the same platform from which Lewis let loose his prediction that a Roosevelt third term candidacy would go down to "ignominious defeat."

Resent Declaration
Democrats generally, while resenting Lewis' assertion that the Roosevelt administration had been unfaithful to labor, thought the CIO head was flirting with a Wheeler nomination or at least was "out to bargain early" for a man of his type and to influence the party platform.

A few thought Lewis might be threatening to run himself if he failed to get his man nominated, while one Democrat predicted the labor leader would "kiss and make up" with Roosevelt before the national convention.

At the Columbus convention, it appeared Lewis' break with the New Deal lacked the solid support of his United Mine Workers. At least 45 resolutions urging a third term for President Roosevelt.

Deficiency Bill Passes House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A $1,032,154,612 appropriation to finance the treasury and post-office departments during the fiscal year beginning July 1 was passed today by the house.

The sum was $11,491,000 less than President Roosevelt's recommendations for the two departments.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The house passed with little debate today a $58,502,000 deficiency appropriation to provide money for naval armament and for internal revenue bureau tax refunds.

The measure was shoved through ahead of the $1,032,000,000 treasury-postoffice bill, which the house started debating yesterday, because appropriations committee members said the money was needed immediately.

The bill, passed on a voice vote, contains $29,000,000 for armor and armor plate for the navy and $29,500,000 for the internal revenue bureau to make refunds on tax collections during the current year.

Immediately after the deficiency measure was passed, the house resumed consideration of the treasury-postoffice bill, on which a vote late today was possible.

The deficiency bill, as approved by the house appropriations committee and as passed by the house, represented a $1,882,400 out in President Roosevelt's budget estimates.

No attempt was made on the floor to write into the deficiency measure a department of agriculture request for an additional $1,400,000 for subsidizing cotton exports. The appropriations committee had stricken the item out.

Deutschland Is In Home Port

Armored Ship Had Been Warring On Shipping

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The pocket battleship Deutschland "returned home recently," after warring on merchant shipping in the Atlantic since the start of the war, the German high command announced today.

The complete communiqué said: "No special events in the west. Air force units carried out reconnaissance flights over France and Britain."

"The armored ship Deutschland, which has been conducting mercantile warfare in the Atlantic since the outbreak of war, returned home recently."

It was also announced that Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler had ordered the Deutschland renamed the Leutzwitz to reserve the name Deutschland for "a bigger ship."

It was also announced that such a ship was already under construction.

The original Leutzwitz, a heavy cruiser, also will be renamed. New Name Undisclosed
The Leutzwitz, fifth of a new German series of 10,000-ton cruisers, was launched at Bremen July 1. What its new name will be was not disclosed.

The Deutschland was one of three 10,000-ton pocket battleships which Germany had at the start of the war.

The Admiral Graf Spee was destroyed by its own commander, Dec. 17 off Montevideo, Uruguay, four days after fleeing to that port in a running fight with three British cruisers.

The other, the Admiral Scheer,

C. W. Higdon Passes Away

Coombs W. Higdon, 59, for 18 years police chief at the Missouri State Fair, died in a hospital in Kansas City Wednesday night from complications which followed an operation.

He was field secretary of the Missouri Association of Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police.

C. W. Higdon

Mr. Higdon was well known not only in Sedalia but throughout the entire state.

He served a term as sheriff of Ray county, and then went with the American Disinfecting Company of Sedalia. "Mr. Higdon," Charles Van Dyne, general manager of the company, said today, "was one of our most valuable salesmen."

Mr. Higdon was operated upon Monday, January 13, and although he appeared to be improving, his condition turned for the worse several days ago and became critical Wednesday.

He is survived by a son, Royce Higdon, who came to Sedalia with his father every fair week during the past fifteen years. His son is a student at Central College, Fayette.

No Conclusions By Barnett On Fire Rate Case

Special Master Gives Report Of 679 Pages To Court

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Paul V. Barnett, special master appointed by a three-judge federal court, to investigate the compromise of the $9,000,000 Missouri fire insurance rate case, today filed his report of 679 pages. It contains no findings of fact or conclusions of law.

The report is a digest of 2,100 pages of testimony, a "narration of the evidence." It includes 335 exhibits, Barnett offered no recommendations to Circuit Judge Kimbrough Stone and District Judge Albert L. Reeves and Merrill E. Otis.

They reopened the case after Boss Tom Pendergast and R. Emmet O'Malley, former state insurance superintendent, pleaded guilty to federal income tax evasion indictments for tax dodging on funds paid them to end in 1936 the long litigation. The government charged Pendergast got $315,000 for his influence and O'Malley $62,500.

In the compromise, 20 percent of the $9,000,000 in impounded premiums was ordered back to policyholders and 80 percent to the 137 risk companies involved with instructions they pay the litigation costs.

After Pendergast and O'Malley went to prison the three judges reopened the case, ordered the companies to return the money to the court and appointed Barnett to investigate.

Examined 97 Witnesses
He was instructed to take testimony concerning the conduct of the companies but to make no recommendation. Ninety-seven witnesses, including A. L. McCormack, St. Louis insurance executive who aided in the arrangement for the compromise, testified at hearings conducted by Barnett after his appointment last July. Hearings were held in Chicago 65 hours make-up in any one month, but a recent emergency

Demand More Rumanian Oil

BUCHAREST, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A high authority said today that German envoys had told the Rumanian government in vigorous terms that it must supply more oil to the reich and that obtaining an increased supply of Rumanian oil was "a matter of life and death" for Germany.

Guard U. S. Interests
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The allies' and Germany's nutcracker pressure on Rumania, over sale of oil to the Nazi army, has put the state department on guard against possible injury to American interests in the Balkan kingdom.

The United States government's attention was focused in the situation as a result of the allies' warning to Rumania that "grave consequences" would follow any attempt to compel British and French-controlled companies to deliver oil to "the enemy."

Any action by the state department would be taken only of the tussle between the allies and Germany over Rumanian oil embargoed the Romano-American oil company, one of the largest in Rumania.

Tax Question Takes A Lull

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Although President Roosevelt asked congress three weeks ago to levy $460,000,000 of special defense taxes, Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said today:

"I have never seen the tax question so dead."

He told reporters that not only have congressional leaders failed to consult him about the tax proposals—he has not even "heard a whisper" from capitol hill.

Morgenthau also said that, as far as he knew, expiration of the Japanese commercial treaty tomorrow would cause no changes in collection of customs duties on Japanese products.

WPA Work In County Stops Due To Cold

About A Thousand Workers To Make Up Time Later

With the closing today of all WPA projects in Pettis county because of the excessive low temperatures, nearly 1,000 men were thrown out of work until there is a break in the weather, adding a probable extra burden on the general relief rolls.

E. W. Mathewson, area engineer, received orders yesterday from the Kansas City office of the Works Progress Administration that all projects were to be closed. The shutdown is effective through out Missouri and is said to be general in the middle west region, where temperatures are at zero and sub-zero levels.

Mathewson and Walter Harmon, chief clerk, notified unit foremen of the abandonment of work late Wednesday afternoon.

Men who worked prior to last Friday are expected to receive their regular two-weeks pay period checks today. The normal working pay periods extend from the 4th to the 18th day of the month and from the 19th to the 3rd of the next month.

There were 180 men added to the rolls last Friday, whose pay period will not be up until February 3, and who would normally have their checks by about February 10.

Thugs Can't Save Democracy

The American Bar Association's House of Delegates nearly adopted a resolution which would have condemned the use of illegal methods to preserve Americanism. The only reason the indictment of false Americanism was not engrossed was that it was incomplete. It was ordered sent back for enlargement and will very likely be presented to the full convention next September.

Violence to suppress alleged anti-American movements can never reasonably be condoned. Vigilante groups armed with clubs and brickbats are just as dangerous to democracy as the people against whom they are organizing. Breaking up meetings of Fascists, Nazis, Communists by organizing bodies of "decent" citizens to invade public halls is in itself an un-democratic action.

Yet, such assaults frequently are not only excused but openly admired. Enraged citizens who have clubbed participants in a "subversive" meeting bask in their self-assumed virtue. Even though the law may catch up with a few of the assailants, they never regard themselves as offenders.

"Illegal violence directed at activities deemed subversive, cannot be justified under any circumstances upon the grounds of supposed necessity," the bar association's statement declared. "Legal methods exist under our Constitution which are fully adequate to protect our institutions."

People who don't sympathize with groups sponsoring meetings don't need to attend. The police will. Police officers have a pretty fair knowledge of what constitutes violation of the law. If any local laws are violated, the responsible persons will be held to account for them. If federal laws are threatened, government agents will be notified.

We can't use strong-arm, gangster methods to destroy opposition. We are contributing nothing to the cause of democracy when we employ the tactics of Fascist terrorism to protect Americanism.

The bar association saw another danger in promoting such tactics. When vigilantes attempt to break up meetings by violence, inordinate attention is called to the group holding the meeting. Such movements thrive on publicity. They invite persecution. They like nothing better than to have a meeting raided so that everyone in the community will know about it.

There is very little danger in letting tiny groups of Fascists or Communists meet unmolested. If nothing happens, there will be no publicity. Their meeting will be ignored as it properly should be. For them, the project will be a failure.

The bar association will do well to pass their resolution if it is presented in September. It is significant that the men and women whose business is the law are showing a tendency to uphold that law, even at the risk of being assailed by pseudo-Americanists.

If the time ever arises when there is a question as to the solvency or credit of the federal government, the people have become so accustomed to resting on governmental support that, should that support fail, it is within the realm of possibility that insurrection might occur.—Dr. Terry M. Townsend, president, Medical Society of the State of New York, discussing public sickness insurance.

A pirate's Who's Who was found in Boston. Published in 1824, new editions of the volume were probably abandoned because the list got too big.

They Found No Peace

After browsing around among plausible candidates, the Nobel Prize committee, in November, announced curtly that the 1939 peace award would be withheld.

The committee has now received a proposal from Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer, that both the 1939 and 1940 peace prizes, aggregating about $90,000, be used to help the Finns in their war with Russia.

The mere suggestion of turning peace funds into war capital is a satirical commentary on the world of today. Of all contemporary leaders, not one can be found great enough to deserve the world's highest peace award. Only Pope Pius XII has consistently and unreservedly demanded peace. Other leaders have asked for it, but their efforts have been spasmodic.

In his letter to President Roosevelt, Pope Pius wrote: "Our own daily experience tells us of the deep-seated yearning for peace that fills the hearts of the common people."

Yes. The common people want peace. But they can find few real champions for their cause.

Ladies Don't Carry Guns

Uncle Sam had better do something soon. We've just let an honest woman slip through our fingers. We're sending her back to Canada because she wouldn't agree, under oath, to bear arms for the United States.

Mrs. Alice Signe Aune was allowed to enter the country under the agreement she would file citizenship papers here. She said she would assist the government in any other way—even as a war nurse—but she wouldn't shoulder a gun.

Mrs. Aune isn't the only woman who feels that way. Most of the others we've admitted wouldn't touch a gun, even though they've casually said they would. And Uncle Sam would have to look a long time to find a corps of native-born American women who would shoulder muskets.

The fact is, he doesn't expect them to. That question applies to men applicants for citizenship. In cases such as that of Mrs. Aune, the United States looks a little absurd. It will be a lot better to modify the immigration laws before this sort of thing happens again.

• Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

W. B. Martin and W. S. Allen returned last evening from the Hanbury mining district and report that the operators on Hanbury Hill have ceased "gophering" and are now directing their operations to deep mining.

A gray horse hitched to Rudolph Marti's milk wagon created consternation on Ohio today when it ran away. The horse became frightened on Lamine street, started to gallop and left the top of the wagon and one wheel at the alley between Third and Fourth streets. It then came through the alley and turned north on Ohio, depositing the wagon running-gear and three wheels in front of Espenschied and Hughes office. With shafts dangling the horse then took to the sidewalk on the west side of the street and in front of Avansino's scattered oyster buckets and contents in all directions. On Second street the animal ran into another horse, which in turn ran off, both going west on Second. All the milk in the Marti wagon was lost.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the celebration last night by Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Barton of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, at their home, No. 1010 East Fifth street. There were 80 guests.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — It was a stroke, and not a fall, that caused the death of Senator Borah. He was stricken only a few hours after he had been assured he was in excellent health.

The tragic details of the great Idahoan's end are as follows: Following his serious illness last summer, Borah was very careful about himself, and on Monday, January 15, he underwent a physical examination. Around 4 p. m. he telephoned Mrs. Borah (affectionately known as "Little Borah") in high spirits.

"Mary," he said jubilantly, "the doctor tells me that I'm in the best condition I've been for several years." Borah then spent an hour or so in his office dictating and reading. Then he drove home, where he ate a light supper, and after running through several newspapers, retired about 9 o'clock. He rose at eight the next morning, his usual hour, and appeared to be in good health, inquiring cheerfully of Mrs. Borah how she had slept.

Mrs. Borah heard him turn on the water in the shower. Ten minutes later she heard it still running and went to the door, which was closed, and knocked. There was no answer. She waited a few moments and then knocked again. No answer. Then she tried to open the door, but couldn't.

Frightened, she called the maid and together they were able to open the door. The reason Mrs. Borah had been unable to push it open was because the Senator had fallen against it.

It was this that gave rise to the report that he had fallen and injured himself. But when Dr. Worth Daniels arrived, he immediately diagnosed the case as a cerebral hemorrhage. Borah never regained consciousness. Several prominent consultants were called in Tuesday afternoon, but they shook their heads.

It was after their visit that Mrs. Borah courageously allowed the press to be informed that her husband was dying.

No Plans

Mrs. Borah's plans for the future are still uncertain—except for one thing.

She has definitely decided to give up the spacious, beautifully furnished apartment in which she and the Senator lived for many years. It was their only home. They had none in Idaho. When they returned there in the summer they lived in a Boise hotel.

The Senator left a small estate which, with the $10,000 which widows of members of Congress receive, will enable Mrs. Borah to live comfortably. Borah could have made big money, but he always refused. He had many offers of legal cases; and a few years ago he was handed a contract by a newspaper syndicate for $52,000 to write a weekly, 1,200-word article. But he rigidly adhered to the rule that he was an employee of the people and that they were entitled to his full time.

Borah was so meticulous about this that when, during his fourth term, Congress increased senatorial pay from $7,500 to $10,000 a year, he refused to accept the additional $2,500 until re-elected. Mrs. Borah has a sister in Moscow, Idaho, and another in Portland, Ore. She will visit them before deciding where she will settle permanently. In the past, she has had a number of requests to write about Washington and about her many experiences in the official and social world. She has always declined, but now she may turn her gentle wit and charm to such work.

Anno Domino

Senator Henry Ashurst, courtly Arizona veteran and one of Borah's closest Senate friends, had a strange experience with him the day before he was stricken.

Ashurst's seat is directly across the aisle from Senator George Norris, who had been away for several weeks having a physical check-up at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. He returned to the Senate that day and Ashurst was greeting him just as Borah, who sat next to Norris, came in.

"Bill," said Ashurst, "I was just telling George how well he looks. He tells me the doctors didn't find a thing wrong with him."

"That's fine, George," smiled Borah. "It's good to have you back."

"George," continued Ashurst, "you didn't have to go to Baltimore to find out what's wrong with you. I could have told you. It's very simple. All of us old timers have it. We're suffering from Anno Domino, that's all, just plain Anno Domino."

Merry-Go-Round

Mrs. Bob Taft, wife of Ohio's GOP "favorite son," doesn't play bridge, but she can make a better political speech than her husband. . . . The SEC is quietly investigating a Wall Street "bear raid" on securities of the $800,000,000 Standard Gas and Electric Company last week, following inside reports that the raid was staged by utility interests as part of a campaign to discredit the SEC. . . . E. R. Stettinius, able young head of the U. S. Steel Corporation, is high among the possibilities for Assistant Secretary of Navy, made vacant when Charles Edison was elevated to the Cabinet. . . . Townsendsites have picked St. Louis and June 30 as the place and date for their convention this year. Politicos are much interested in the timing, because it is before the two national nominating conventions. In 1936, Townsend teamed up with Father Coughlin against both Roosevelt and Landon.

Birthday Gift

The President is going to reverse the usual order this year and send Congress a gift on his birthday, January 30.

It will consist of a special message urging a $10,000,000 appropriation for the construction of 25 hospitals, in various parts of the country to be designated by the Public Health Service and the American Medical Society. He went out of his way to choose his birthday to submit this plan, and he will describe it as the first health-insurance program.

The President also will emphasize in his message that while the Federal Government should take the initiative in building the hospitals, the localities must maintain them.

Surgeon General Thomas Parran tried to persuade him to recommend a certain amount of federal aid for upkeep. Parran proposed one dollar per day per patient. But Roosevelt rejected this.

"Nope that's out," he told the Interdepartmental Health Program Committee headed by Miss Josephine Roche. "It's all right for the Government to build them, but the localities must operate them. We want to tie the localities directly up to these hospitals so that they will have a personal interest in them."

Note—Significantly, at the conclusion of the conference the President directed Miss Roche to continue work on formulating a national health-insurance program, even though there is no chance of passing anything of this nature at the present session of Congress.

THE CAPTAIN'S DAUGHTER

BY HELEN WORDEN

COPYRIGHT, 1940
NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Marie models a beautiful evening gown for Lynda Martin, is astonished at the society girls' careless spending. Marie hates living on a barge, where her father would move into the city, but old Baptiste La Porte won't hear of leaving his barges. En route home, Marie meets Tommy Ryan running away from a fight between truckers and bargemen.

CHAPTER II

TOMMY RYAN insisted on walking back to the barge with Marie, though she begged him not to. Mingled with his protective feeling toward her, was a growing resentment against her father, Baptiste La Porte.

"Your Dad needn't think he has a corner on all the freight in New York," he told Marie, as she wiped the blood from his nose, "just because he owns a couple of barges."

"Six barges to be exact, Tommy," she corrected. "And whether they carry freight or not means his living. He'd die if the trucks got all his business. He's at the end of his road, you're at the beginning of yours. You can't blame him for objecting. But it's not personal."

"I call this sock in the jaw darned personal."

"He was hitting the entire trucking industry, not just you. It's only because you drive a truck that he resents you."

Tommy dug his hands in his pockets, refusing to answer. Not more than 25, he already had a massive look and one day would be beefy. His broad, youthful face, even by the pier arc-light, was red and weather-beaten. The sullen droop to his mouth increased with returning anger.

"What's he going to do when we get married? I'm certainly not giving up my truck." He kicked a protruding slab of pavement. "Nobody asked you to." Marie sighed. "We don't have to cross bridges before we come to them, do we?"

Impulsively she caught his hand. "We are at the Molly. Come aboard. Pop's probably forgotten all about the fight."

He drew back. "Not tonight. I'm still sore, if he isn't. I just wanted to make sure you were safe."

Marie laughed. "As if I were ever afraid here. Remember when we were kids together and used to race each other up and down this pier on skates spring nights like this?"

SHE glanced at the sky. The fog had lifted and the clouds, wind-driven, were scudding across the full moon. To the east stretched the Brooklyn Bridge, strung with its gleam of twinkling yellow lights. The jagged skyline of New York pierced the heavens to the west and north, breaking into a rosy-glow where Broadway interrupted. The dock itself was deserted. The barge boats, roped together like so many logs, bobbed cork fashion with the rising tide, sometimes scraping the pier with their sides, as a boat passed. Lamps gleamed from their cabins.

Smoke drifted lazily up on the evening air. Occasionally the smell of coffee and frying bacon floated toward Marie and Tommy. "Some difference between this and your life up there," said Tommy, jerking his head in the direction of midtown New York. "Ever sorry you've gotta leave off being a model in that ritzy store and come back here?" He drew her to him.

"Don't be silly." She side-stepped his arms. "What happened to the fight? I heard shouting, then I saw you running and now everybody's gone."

"The other guys hopped their trucks. Mine's parked down at the Battery." He paced nervously back and forth. "The bargemen, led by your old man, had undercovered studio couch in it which Marie used. A rocking chair stood beneath a corner lamp and three straight chairs were drawn up to the table. To the right was the bedroom where Baptiste and his wife slept. This side was the kitchen. Mrs. La Porte bent over the coal stove. A little tremor passed through her substantial frame, but she didn't look around.

"Bat, I wish you'd keep that hatch closed. Were you fighting with Tommy Ryan again?" She jabbed the bacon. "Marie has little enough in her life as it is, living on this old barge, without keepin' Tommy from seein' her. She's young and growin' and she's never known anything else in life but canalboats!"

"Bat said nothing. Marie walked across to the alcove and hung her hat and coat up in the closet.

"Don't worry, Mom." Her lips trembled. "Let's talk about something else. I'm dog tired."

Bat settled down in the rocker and reached for his pipe. "Eets not the barge, but these young men like Tommy Ryan, which make you weary. What you need is a nize, long sail to Canada. The ice is breakin' and we'll be pullin' out soon."

Mrs. La Porte banged the oven door. "I've lived on a barge twenty years," she said with increased exasperation. "And I've learned that the men are the only ones who get any fun out of this life. It's scrub, wash, and cook for the women. I want Marie to have something more than that."

She picked up the evening paper and stuck it under Bat's nose. It had been opened at the society page. She pointed to the picture of a girl. "Look at her, Lynda Martin. She has all the advantages in the world, and yet she is not any better than your daughter. But she hasn't a stubborn father."

A knock on the hatchway deflected Bat's retort. "Come in," he called. "Why it's Jerry McGuire," he exclaimed as a cop stuck his head through the opening. "I want to have a talk with you, Bat," he said.

Extreme Cold Lingers On - Ten Below Zero Early In Morning

es deep by Tuesday, I. H. Reed, president of the Sedalia Water Co., reported. In 1936 it was frozen 30 inches down but the snow has furnished far more protection this year and has saved most meters and individual services.

High temperature here yesterday was 3 above at noon. It was down to 1 above by five o'clock.

Studying the weather map, which showed the frigid wave extended over a great part of the United States, W. J. Moxom, director of the government weather bureau at St. Louis, said:

"It looks as if the cold wave will continue for several days. I can't find a sign of a break."

Frigid At Maryville

A breath-taking, energy-sapping temperature of 20 degrees below zero at Maryville, the lowest on record there for any Jan. 25, was registered today as Missouri's protracted arctic weather intensified its crippling cold.

The new frigid blasts hit hardest at the northern part of the state, where falling in line behind Maryville were Kirksville with 18 below, Tarkio 17, Moberly and Macon 15, Hannibal 14 and St. Joseph 13.

Elsewhere temperatures instead of hitting lows of 4 to 18 below stopped short at 1 to 10 below. When it gets that cold, a few degrees more or less aren't noticeable—and the suffering is just as acute.

Relief Situation Acute

The emergency relief situation resulting from the severe cold was described as "pitiful" by George Haworth, state Social Security administrator. Most relief offices are being swamped with requests for food and coal, Haworth said. "We've stopped all other work that is not absolutely necessary."

Relief applicants at St. Louis began lining up here at 3 a. m., with the temperature 5 below. There were about 200 chilled-to-the-bone men and women in line when the office opened at 7 o'clock.

About 10,000 WPA workers on outdoor projects in the St. Louis area have been kept off their jobs since Dec. 22, when the winter weather set in with the first of many snowfalls. The situation has been the same in other sections of the state.

Ease Off Slightly

The cold will ease off slightly tonight, with minimum temperatures of zero to 10 below zero forecast, and it will be somewhat warmer tomorrow, but no immediate break in the weather was in sight. Light snow was predicted for western Missouri.

The new cold wave dug deep into the south today, inflicting widespread hardship and carrying no prospect of immediate relief.

Readings of -10 or lower were recorded throughout the north central states, and zero cold penetrated into extreme northern Oklahoma and along the Arkansas-Missouri boundary.

Two Freeze to Death

Two persons froze to death in Ohio. The relief situation was described as "pitiful" in Missouri where the wave fell short of predictions but went well below zero. Most relief offices were snowed under with requests for aid.

From Texas to Florida, southerners shivered in the continued abnormal cold. One of the heaviest frosts in years extended to Tampa, Fla., and in Miami killed fugitives from the northern cold sought blankets, firewood and heating equipment.

Only main highways in Virginia were opened as crews were hampered by a shortage of proper equipment to cope with the "once-in-20 years" snow. A 20-inch snowfall resulted in roof collapses at an army, a tobacco warehouse and an airplane hangar. Richmond's transportation remained crippled.

Will Express Views Of War

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—(P)—An

"immediate appeal to the country"—a general election—was announced today by the governor-general, Lord Tweedsmuir, in a speech opening parliament.

The election will be Canada's first since October 14, 1935, and will be the first opportunity for the electorate to express its will concerning the war and the government's conduct of it.

That conduct has been under fire recently from Ontario province's legislature and governor, Mitchell Hepburn.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills. Used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

No Conclusions By Barnett On Fire Rate Case

taking of testimony was concluded last September 11. "The master has expressed no conclusions of law believing it to be the better practice x x x that the judges decide questions of law in the first instance, without previous advice or recommendations of a master in chancery," Barnett told the court.

"Findings of Fact" His conclusion consisted of one paragraph:

"The above constitutes the substance of all testimony in the case arranged according to subject matter. The length of the analysis and digest of the testimony is due to the fact that the master has purposely refrained from interpreting the evidence, believing that such interpretation would amount to findings of fact."

The court seeks to determine if officials of the 137 companies knew how their representative, the late Charles R. Street, Chicago insurance executive, effected the settlement. The deal has resulted in bribery charges against Pendergast and O'Malley.

Settlement To Street Practically all the executives questioned testified Street was a highly trusted representative, that they left the settlement with him and that they did not know until treasury agents uncovered the payoff to Pendergast and O'Malley that Street had given them money.

O'Malley was state insurance superintendent at the time of the compromise. The risk case now is 18 years old.

The evidence showed Street had "sole authority to negotiate a compromise of the litigation," which began in 1922 following a state superintendent's order for a 15 percent reduction in rates.

McCormack testified of his dealings with O'Malley and Pendergast on instruction from Street to settle the case and of money paid to the political leader and his henchman.

In the preliminary of his report, Barnett wrote:

"After hearing a substantial portion of the testimony, the master concluded that the question of guilty knowledge or the absence thereof (upon the part of the insurance executives representing various plaintiffs herein) concerning the actions and conduct of Charles R. Street must be determined, not from direct evidence, but from inferences from direct evidence. In addition thereto, in nearly every instance the legal question was involved as to whether the evidence was, as a matter of law, sufficient to permit an inference of guilty knowledge, as distinguished from the question as to whether or not such an inference should be drawn. x x x the master accordingly conferred with his honor Judge Merrill E. Otis (the other judges of this court being then absent from Kansas City, Mo.) and the Honorable Judge Otis advised the master to merely analyze and arrange the evidence, leaving the questions of fact to be decided by the court in the first instance. This advice has been followed by the master."

Half Million Work

In a report to the court on the same case in 1934, Barnett turned in more than half a million words concerning testimony which required 19,000 pounds of paper to record.

Deutschland Is In Home Port

was reported widely active in the first months of the war, but the Admiral Graf Spee's crew said they frequently masqueraded as the Admiral Scheer.

British aviators said that in a raid on Kiel September 4, the day after war was declared, they badly damaged the Admiral Graf Spee, but the Germans never acknowledged the claim.

When the Admiral Graf Spee showed up in Montevideo, it was presumed that the pocket battleship which the airman mentioned may have been the Admiral Scheer instead, since it never has been located beyond doubt on the high seas.

The Deutschland broke into the headlines prominently with its capture on October 9, of the American merchantman City of Flint which subsequently was taken from the German prize crew by Norwegian authorities and released. She is due to reach Baltimore tomorrow.

On Nov. 25, the Deutschland sank with shellfire the British armed merchant cruiser Raulpindi near Iceland.

The only other vessel definitely known to have been sunk by the Deutschland was the British freighter Stonegate on October 23.

The Deutschland was launched in 1931, first of the pocket battleships, heavily armored, fast ships equipped with 11-inch guns. Because of these combined attributes they were unique among naval vessels.

On May 29, 1937, the Deutschland was bombed by Spanish government planes during the Spanish Civil War, 23 of the crew being killed and 83 wounded.

Two days later, German warships shelled the Spanish city of Almeria and killed a score of persons in reprisal.

Last March, when Memel was absorbed into the German Reich, the Deutschland carried Hitler there.

ruling declared by Col. Harrington, national administrator, allows 180 hours a month.

This ruling was passed to take care of the WPA men thrown out of employment because of the wide-spread cold wave.

The projects closed in this county include work on the streets in Sedalia, the lagoon at Liberty park, the county-wide road jobs and the state highway improvements.

Possibly 25 men will continue work today, completing tree plantings where the ground has already been opened up.

No Work Under 10 Above

The shut-down will continue as long as the temperature remains under 10 degrees above, Mathewson advised the foremen.

Miss Roseanne Dugan, secretary-director of the Social Security office, reported yesterday that there are now well over 700 families on general relief due to the extreme cold weather. "The number will probably be increased as long as the severe weather prevails," she said.

A sum of $3,000 was pledged yesterday by the Pettis county court to the County Relief committee. The amount, which is in addition to the $600 allowance made monthly for relief, is to be paid in five months at the rate of $600 a month.

Ohio Not Be Reimbursed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(P)—Ohio has lost its battle for federal reimbursement of $1,338,000 which it claimed to have spent for old age assistance while under suspension by the Social Security board.

Climaxing a short debate that brought Republican charges of "politics" and "bureaucracy," the House voted late yesterday to uphold President Roosevelt's veto of a bill to repay the state.

The vote was 171 to override the veto and 153 to support it, but a two-thirds majority is necessary to reject the president's decision.

Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) told the House that the bill had the approval of Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator.

"We had been assured that this legislation would have the green light," Jenkins said. "Somewhere along the line, something has happened."

The federal aid was withheld in October, 1938, on the ground that the Ohio old age program was being administered irregularly. Complaints that the state pension system had been used for political purposes were denied by Martin L. Davey, Democrat, who then was governor.

His written statement was presented to a conference of the United Christian Council for Democracy which on Tuesday night heard an attack on the Manufacturers Association by Chairman J. Warren Madden of the National Labor Relations Board.

Replying to Madden, Prentiss said the NLRB chairman had assailed the manufacturers "cleverly in an attempt to show that the National Association of Manufacturers would deny employees the right to self-organization or of collective bargaining" and added that this statement was "utterly false."

"Industry does not oppose collective bargaining," Prentiss declared. "What it has opposed, does oppose and will continue to oppose its 'crooked' unions and their racketeering leaders, biased labor boards and one-sided hearings."

He accused the NLRB of unfairness and bias against industry, and asked 12 specific questions as to congressional intention when it empowered the NLRB to enforce the Wagner act.

should not be held for contempt of court."

"No one will unlawfully impugn the orders and judgments of this court, and he who undertakes to do so, be he governor or beggar, will be held accountable in the manner prescribed by law."

Statement Issued Judge Walther's statement: "I have heretofore become involved in no personal quarrel with Mr. Stark and would prefer to avoid dealing in personalities as an activity not consistent with judicial dignity. However, an unwise, unfair and gravely serious statement has been made by this gentleman respecting the official conduct and judgment of this court which cannot be ignored."

"Humanly, we are not unjustified in Mr. Stark's statement, 'I think the people of Missouri understand,' if accorded any authority on Mr. Stark's part to formulate and speak the understandings of the people of Missouri, and if dignified with any semblance of intelligibility or interpretability, is meant, we assume, an inference or insinuation that the findings of this court on the Graves case were not consistent with the law and the evidence in the record in those proceedings, and in aspersions that judgments were actuated by motives other than the law and evidence therein."

"The constitution of Missouri vests in the supreme court and the courts of appeals the sole authority to review, to comment with dignity and effect upon the legality of, and to reverse or to affirm, decisions of the various circuit courts. Those lawful tribunals exercise that prerogative only after a careful, complete and exhaustive study of every word of the evidence in the record in each case, and after a painstaking study of all the law applicable."

"True to all principles of democratic government, our constitution clothes the governor with no such judicial authority, and no honorable or intelligent person, either as an official or as a trespasser or usurper of authority, would undertake to pass criticism upon the findings of any court without first being thoroughly familiar with all the evidence in the case and all of the relevant laws."

Asks Clear Charge "If any factor other than the law and the evidence contributes to bring about the judgments in these or any other cases in a court or any other case in this state, the governor does have a duty obligatory upon him which is not a usurpation of authority—that duty is to direct that legal proceedings be instituted to effect the removal of a judge so offending from office. Having made the declaration he has, he is, if an honorable man, in duty bound to the people of Jackson county and the state of Missouri to speak in clear and unmistakable terms—make the charge clearly if it should be made and direct the institution of proceedings for my removal."

"And if the charges are not true, then he owes the people of Missouri, who are responsible for his official presence, himself, and this court a duty, and if he is a gentleman, he will speak just as clearly in the retraction of this insinuating comment and the acknowledgement of his haste, error and wrongful accusation. In any event for him to remain silent at this time is a cowardly dereliction of duty and will constitute a confession by avoidance of the wilful and intentional baseness of this slander."

I wish my position to be clear. I certainly view Lloyd Stark with no personal feeling, either of admiration or animosity. But I do cherish the dignity of the court over which I preside and my own reputation and I do respect at every moment of occupying any bench, all of the traditions and principles by which civilized people submit their controversies for adjudication by lawful tribunals.

"Should my discharge of those duties ever become contaminated by any other than noble and lawful motives, I shall remove myself from that bench. Until that time no one will unlawfully impugn the orders and judgments of this court and he who undertakes to do so, be he governor or beggar, will be held accountable in the manner prescribed by law."

Secretary Perkins upheld the report and dismissed reputation proceedings against Bridges).

Appearing before the special House committee investigating the agency, Green asserted:

"The American Federation of Labor comes here as a friend and defender of the National Labor Relations Act. Our protests are against its administration."

The AFL leader recalled that he described the act as labor's "Magna Charta" when it was first approved by Congress and said his organization maintained that view now.

"We seek to zealously guard and defend its fundamental provisions," he said.

When he reminded the committee that he previously had testified before both Senate and House labor committees in favor of a series of amendments, Chairman Smith (D-Va.) asked whether the AFL supported these amendments now.

"We still stand by them," he replied. "We hope they will be favorably acted upon by Congress."

He promised to detail a number of the board's decisions which he said would establish the "bias" of the board.

Encouragement To Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(P)—President Roosevelt heard from an administration executive today that Kansas sentiment was "very strong" that he run for another term.

His informant was Guy T. Helvering, internal revenue commissioner just back from the midwest.

The president talked, too, about the Ohio political situation with Senator Donahay (D-Ohio) but there was no hint of what tangent their discussion took.

Another Democratic senator on his calling list was Burton K. Wheeler of Montana who told reporters yesterday it would be difficult for the Democrats to win again with Roosevelt.

Helvering said President Roosevelt, whose ideas on a third term remain undisclosed, had had to turn down an invitation to a Kansas Democratic "powwow" February 22.

Senator Donahay, who has been mentioned as a "favorite son" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, brushed by White House reporters with this statement:

"Not a thing on earth I can give you boys. I talked to the president a few minutes on the Ohio situation and that is all."

velt were reported reliably to have been introduced at the convention.

Curiosity Aroused

In the wake of Lewis' speech, a paragraph in an address by Postmaster General Farley last night at Winston-Salem, N. C., aroused capital curiosity. While developing the theme that government should be an umpire for business, Farley digressed to say:

"I want to make it clear that if at any time I am confronted with the issue of the welfare of my party, on the one hand, or the welfare of my country on the other, that issue has already been decided. I love my country better than I love the Democratic party."

He added that he hoped he never would be confronted by such an issue.

Politicians wondered whether the statement might have some hidden meaning in regard to the presidential contest, for there have been speculations as to whether Farley would support a third term or perhaps become a candidate himself.

Some thought he removed any political significance from his entire speech by a sentence that he was endeavoring to express in his views on industry and agriculture while "saying nothing at all about politics."

Joyful Over Change

Republicans hailed joyfully Lewis' charge that the Democratic party after seven years had no "solution" for major problems and his statement that Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York were "tending toward" the Republican column.

Representative Martin of Massachusetts, House minority leader, said that Lewis' "brief indictment of the administration may serve as the basis of a platform for the Republican party and the basis for Republican hope of success in 1940."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), a third term advocate, told reporters he thought that Lewis, "under the spell of his own eloquence, said more than he intended to say and implied more than he actually said."

"I think that the sentiments he uttered," Pepper added, "were those that come from a lover who is temporarily hurt because his best girl has appeared a little indifferent, as he has surmised, or has smiled at a rival."

"But the old rule of kissing and making up has been applicable for a long time, particularly when a lover finds out that his girl did not really intend to be neglectful and the fellow at whom he saw her smile really was her cousin."

Senator Harrison (D-Miss.) said "certainly no one can be led to believe that the Democratic party has been anything but most friendly to labor. It was the Democratic party that first wrote into law the right of collective bargaining (in the NRA legislation)."

Senator Ellender (D-La.) asserted to reporters that Lewis would "unhesitatingly try to crush anybody who doesn't agree with him. He's for the New Deal but unless he gets paid off, he's against it."

Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.), a third term advocate, said he thought Lewis was "entirely wrong" in forecasting Roosevelt's defeat if renominated.

"Mr. Roosevelt at the present time is the only man in sight for the nomination," Norris said.

Senator Smith (D-SC), whose renomination in 1938 was opposed by the president, said "almost anybody would be preferable" to Mr. Roosevelt for the nomination.

Wheeler himself said it would be "extremely difficult" for Roosevelt to be re-elected. He reiterated his opinion that the president would not break precedent and seek another term.

But the Montanan expressed surprise at Lewis' forecast, and joined others of his party in disputing the contention the administration had not kept faith with labor.

Some politicians thought Wheeler had shown a disposition to "string along" with the CIO leader in cancelling an engagement to attend a banquet last night arranged by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor.

The banquet was given by the labor board division of the committee for celebration of the president's birthday, raising funds to combat infantile paralysis.

Green, as chairman of the division, had invited Wheeler. The Senator, after accepting, said he had a prior engagement and could not attend.

The annual orchid show opened in Shaw's Garden despite severe competition from the weather. Officials picked Tuesday, warmest day this week, to wrap the flowers in tissue paper and move them in heated trucks from the growing houses 20 miles distant.

Farm Groups Differ On The Trade Proposal

Split As To Aid Or Hindrance To Agriculture

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(P)—Two large farm organizations split squarely today on whether the reciprocal trade program helps or hinders agriculture.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American farm bureau federation, submitted this argument to the house ways and means committee:

"Careful analysis fails to disclose any measurable injury to American agriculture. . . . The government is attempting to regain foreign markets so that farmers can produce more at profitable prices."

On the other hand, there came this contention from L. J. Taber, master of the national grange:

"It does not make sense to pay hundreds of millions of dollars annually to American farmers to reduce acreage and production and then enter into trade agreements with other nations making it easier for them to swamp and glut our markets with competitive commodities."

O'Neal asked the committee to approve a proposal to extend the trade program three years beyond its June 12 expiration date; Taber opposed extension and urged termination of all trade agreements now in force.

Tariff Reduced

Taber asserted that the facts already negotiated had hurt agriculture since "the tariff has been reduced on more than 200 items coming under the agricultural schedule." He added:

"Referring specifically to some of these commodities we reduced the duty on cattle, swine, pork, bacon, grains, cereal products, milk, cream, cheese, eggs, potatoes and a long list of fresh vegetables, canned or preserved

Advocates Genuine Healthy Kissing
BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 25.—University of California health officers decreed a 60-day ban on kissing after 18 students were stricken with mild cases of influenza. This, Dr. S. L. Katzoff said today, was a mistake.

"A good, healthy kiss never spread any germs," said Dr. Katzoff, medical director and psychiatrist of the San Francisco Institute of Human Relations. "A genuine kiss generates so much heat it destroys germs. If anything, the university ought to advocate more kissing."

vegetables, fruits, nuts and other competitive agricultural products."

Taber said the duty on eggs had been reduced from 10 to 5 cents per dozen in the Canadian agreement and the concession generalized to the rest of the world. In the meantime, he said, the cumulative purchases of eggs by the surplus commodities corporation amounted to 30,289,020 dozens. The duty on apples was reduced from 25 to 15 cents per bushel, the grange chief continued, while the surplus commodities corporation has purchased more than 9,000,000 bushels in an effort to get rid of a surplus and stabilize the price.

O'Neal opposed suggestions that senate ratification be required for trade agreements of the program is continued.

"Senate ratification of trade agreements would mean a return to the old system of log-rolling," he said. "We might as well repeal the law altogether as have that."

O'Neal said that the farmers' "painful experience with the Smoot-Hawley act demonstrated to them, once and for all, that higher tariffs were not the solution to their surplus problem."

"The farmers became convinced that every time they were lured into the tariff game they got traded out of their shirts."

The farm bureau federation, he explained, is supporting the agricultural adjustment program as well as the trade agreements plan. He said that the two programs "are not contradictory but actually dovetail together in working toward the objective of bringing parity to the American farmer."

Further Severe Loss Inflicted On Invaders

Finnish Reports Of Added Successes Are Continuing

HELSINKI, Jan. 25.—(P)—All day and all-night Russian attacks concentrated northeast of Lake Ladoga where the Red army has tried to outflank Karelian isthmus defenses, were repulsed with severe losses to the invaders, the Finnish communiqué reported today.

The Finns described success on all fronts as the leader of a visiting British labor delegation, Sir Walter Citrine, declared help is reaching Finland from Britain in greater measure than commonly believed.

Northeast of Lake Ladoga particularly heavy fighting took place near Aittokari all yesterday, the Finns said, resulting in "heavy losses for the enemy."

Last night the Red attacks centered at Kollanajoki.

The Soviet forces "again lost several hundred killed," by the time the attacks were turned back this morning, the Finnish communiqué said, reporting additional success in repulsing enemy thrusts in the far north.

Pound Defense Lines

Russian pounding against Finnish defense lines near Kollanajoki "continued at intervals all through the night," the communiqué said, asserting that three Soviet tanks were destroyed on this front.

On the central front a Soviet blow was warded off near Markajärvi and two similar attacks repulsed in the far northern Petsamo region, where two more tanks were destroyed, the Finns declared.

Artillery shelling of Viipuri, the coastal city near the Karelian isthmus fighting zone, failed to do any damage, the Finns said.

Snowy weather prevented air activity over Finland yesterday "except for minor raids" on Kuusamo and the Aland islands, on the sea route to Sweden across the Gulf of Bothnia.

A Finnish merchant ship was sunk in the raid.

Entrap Red Force

Hit-skip tactics of Finland's sking sharpshooters are frustrating Soviet Russian mechanized units and are in large measure responsible for the entrapment of a big Red army force northeast of Lake Ladoga, Finnish sources reported today.

Russian tank crews are so provoked by the white-clad phantoms that they often send their theoretically formidable machines barging about in futile circles in search of their tormentors, the Finns said.

Excitement is growing in Helsinki, where Finns made it an open secret that something "big" is brewing northeast of the lake.

Behind the brief Finnish communiqués telling of heavy fighting for the past three days, that sector, the Finns said there was this unofficial story:

Large Russian forces early in the war pushed northward around Lake Ladoga in an effort to flank the Karelian isthmus defenses of the Mannerheim line. Their two columns were smashed at Lemola and Syskyjarvi, about 20 miles inside Finland.

More Engines For Plane Need

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(P)—Secretary Morgenthau said today that the nation's airplane engine production must be increased to meet the potential demand by the army, navy and civil domestic services and by foreign countries.

Morgenthau, President Roosevelt's liaison man with an interdepartmental committee coordinating domestic and foreign airplane purchases, said that "engine production isn't big enough to take care of the demand."

"I know American airplane manufacturers could handle a lot more orders if they could get the engines," he added.

Saying that the potential bottleneck in the engine industry had not impeded fulfillment of present airplane orders but might interfere with future orders, Morgenthau reported that "everybody" was studying means of expanding production.

The need for more engines, he explained, was one of the principal reasons why he and other officials were visiting airplane and engine factories. Morgenthau and army and navy representatives were supposed to have been in Buffalo, N. Y., today to inspect the Curtis Wright and Bell Aircraft plants, but were prevented from going by yesterday's heavy snow.

However, Captain Harry E. Collins, treasury procurement chief and chairman of the coordinating committee, went to Buffalo by train. Morgenthau also disclosed that a few days ago he made an unannounced trip to the Lycoming engine plant at Williamsport, Pa.

Likewise, he has visited the Glenn Martin plant in Baltimore.

Morgenthau reiterated that the president's committee while coordinating American and foreign purchases would "make very sure that not only the American army and navy but also American commercial needs are taken care of first."

Netherlands Rejects Bid

THE HAGUE, Jan. 25.—(P)—The Netherlands today rejected Britain's recent bid for cooperation of neutrals against Germany.

Closing a foreign affairs debate in parliament after speakers had opposed the plea for "united action" sounded Saturday by Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, Foreign Minister Elco N. Van Kleffens said the Netherlands was under no obligation to depart from her policy of strict neutrality.

Van Kleffens did not mention Churchill, who said that the safety of small European neutrals depended upon "united action" with the Allies.

The foreign minister, however, did say:

"From the British side there has come a voice which declared that neutral nations have a juridical obligation as members of the League of Nations to go into the war."

"I strongly deny there is a juridical or a moral obligation for the Netherlands to participate in the war."

"Our task is no collaboration with others. That is a positive attitude and a positive policy and, moreover, our good right."

"Brother Rat and a Baby" at Uptown Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday

The comedy successor to last year's comedy success, "Brother Rat," will be the main attraction at the Uptown theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. In the following up last year's comedy hit, Warner Brothers has combined calendar fact with film fiction by making the period between the two stories coincide with the time lapse between the pictures.

"Brother Rat" was filmed just a year ago. In the follow-up production, the same players are picking up the lives of the same movie characters after a lapse of just one year. The first production, it will be recalled, saw Wayne Morris, Eddie Albert and Ronald Reagan safely graduated from military college. It also saw Albert and Miss Bryan the proud parents of a newly born baby boy. Morris and Reagan got no further than engagements to Priscilla Lane and Jane Wyman.

When "Brother Rat and a Baby" picks them up once more, Morris and Reagan are working in New York, Miss Lane and Miss Wyman are still in college. Albert and Miss Bryan are living in a small southern town, where he is high school athletic coach. And their baby is a bouncing, mischievous youngster just past his first birthday. Besides the seven principles already mentioned, the cast includes Arthur Treacher, Moroni Olsen, Jessie Busley, Larry Williams, Berton Churchill, Nana Bryant and several others.

There appeared to be little opposition, on the other hand, to advancing funds to Sweden and Norway. Taft said he thought that a loan to Sweden would be a good commercial risk "because I don't think there is much danger of Russia swallowing up Sweden."

Restrictions On The Airmail

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(P)—No "articles or materials" may be mailed hereafter to belligerent countries by trans-Atlantic clipper planes.

This, an official of the post-office department said today, is in line with the state department's interpretation of the neutrality act.

Since inauguration of trans-Atlantic airmail service, there has been only one class of mail—30 cents a half ounce—and persons desiring to pay the price could send almost anything.

Under the new regulations, "no articles or materials shall be accepted in the airmails for dispatch by the trans-Atlantic air service" to belligerent countries or neutral countries whose mails pass through belligerent countries.

The effect of this, it was explained, will be to limit the content of trans-Atlantic mail to written matter. An exception is that anything copyrighted, such as films, may be carried.

Golden

Gloves

More than sixty youngsters from over central Missouri will gather Monday in Sedalia to participate in the Fourth Annual Golden Glove tournament sponsored by the Sedalia Democrat-Capital. This day Monday January 29 will open the three-day session from which will emerge champion amateur boxers.

Inquiries have been received from more boys desiring to take up amateur boxing this season than in the three previous years of Golden Glove competition in this section. The attractive awards given the champions and the runner-ups in the local tournament by the sponsors and the trip to Kansas City all-expenses paid likewise is attracting the boxers.

With boys coming with such teams as the Kemper Military Academy, Wentworth Military Academy, Central Missouri Teachers college, Columbia, composed of students of the University of Missouri, Marshall's W. O. W. club, Lexington town team, Windsor, Houstonia, Booneville, Clinton and Sedalia, local fans can expect to see plenty of leather pushing.

The closing of the trial bouts last Tuesday night brought to an end the workouts in public for the Sedalia boxers, and Wednesday night more than fifteen Sedalia boys settled down to four hard days of training, taking a rest over Sunday to be rested up for the preliminaries Monday.

Coach Lawrence Englund is confident the Sedalia battlers will turn in good cards by the end of the coming week, and although he has not seen the competition coming from Kemper, Wentworth, Columbia and Central Missouri Teachers college at Warrensburg, he believes they will be able to hold their own.

Arrangements are being made to see that every ringside and reserved seat sold goes to its rightful ticket holder, and none will be allowed into these sections unless they have tickets. Each boy entered in the tournament will have a special ticket to pass him by the ushers to the stage where clothes will be changed and fighters prepared for their bouts.

Here-to-fore persons have been "edging" past the ushers and "copping" seats. It is the policy of the sponsors to see that every fan is properly taken care of. Ushers are being selected to handle the crowds and to stop "chislers" from passing through.

Co-operation in handling of the tournament will be had with experienced A. A. U. officials of the Missouri Valley Association. These men will handle the weigh-ins, check examinations and prepare the drawings. The preliminary work will be done between 1 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, drawings to be completed by 5:30 and the brackets set.

Hugh "Spot" Curran of Sedalia will be assisted by an out-of-town referee in handling the championship bouts. Judges will be A. A. U. recognized men who will score the fights to the technical point.

Tickets for the three-day tournament are now being reserved with preference being given to those fans who secure tickets for the three days. Those desiring only two days of fighting are next and the one-night attenders will have to secure their tickets the night of the fight they expect to attend.

Out-of-town reservations are being taken care of by mail. Those reserving tickets can write to D. Kelly Scruton, sports editor of the Democrat-Capital enclosing your check or money order for the tickets and they will immediately be returned by mail. If the parties desire to call for the tickets at the newspaper office or at the park the can do so.

More than seventy-five reservations have already been made for the three nights. Tickets for the Tournament of Champions in Kansas City can be obtained through the Democrat-Capital Sports Department.

Stover 'Hi' Tourney To Start Feb. 1

Girl' Volleyball Teams Will Also Compete; Syracuse And Stover Favored

STOVER, Jan. 25.—An invitational basketball and volleyball tournament will be held here from February 1 to 3 with eight boys basketball teams and four girls volleyball teams competing.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place and consolation winners in the basketball and to the first and second place and consolation victors in volleyball. Also, five gold basketballs and five gold volleyballs will be awarded the boys and girls exhibiting the best sportsmanship throughout the tournament.

Pairing For Basketball

Pairings for the first round of the cage tourney are: La Monte vs. Cole Camp; Stover "B" vs. Versailles; Syracuse vs. Gravois Mills, and Stover "A" vs. Otterville.

Syracuse and the Stover "A" quintets have the best records, each having won 16 and lost only 4. LaMonte, another pre-tournament favorite, has 14 wins and 6 losses and Versailles has won 11 and lost 3.

Volleyball To Be Close

Pairings for the first round of volleyball are: Gravois Mills vs. Stover and Cole Camp vs. Clarksburg. The girls event appears to be a tossup with three of the teams rated at the top of this section of Missouri.

The tournament will be played Thursday night, Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night. Competent officials have been selected.

Missouri Pacific Loses To Stover

The Missouri Pacific Apprentice basketball team after leading the entire game weakened the last few minutes and lost a free scoring game to the Stover Athletic club by a score of 47 to 40.

The Apprentices jumped into and early lead and held a 23 to 22 lead at half time. Starting the fourth quarter the shop boys were 5 points ahead, but when Parkhurst went out of the game on fouls and Cecil Hill was injured and had to be removed from the game, the Stover club took advantage of this and went into the lead which they held until the game ended.

Kirchner was high scorer for the Stover club with 14 points while Parkhurst was high scorer for the shop boys with 11 points. The game was fast and well played throughout, the shop boys in their offensive play. Hill sustained a wrenched ankle but it is thought he will be able to play within a few days.

'Bucky' Miller Is A Favorite In Kansas City Tournament

Beebe Rich, 3-Time Flyweight Champion Of Big Tourney Quits

Denver "Bucky" Miller, Sedalia's Golden Gloves flyweight champion is considered a favorite in the Tournament of Champions in Kansas City this winter, writes Ernest Mehl, writer of The Sports Dial in the Kansas City Star of Wednesday night.

Denver "Bucky" Miller

Beebe Rich, several times winner of the championship, is retiring from the ring this winter, hanging up his gloves to devote his time as an assistant to Charlie Meyers of the Municipal Boxing Club in Kansas City.

Ernest Mehl says: "Pleasing will be the news to all aspiring little amateur 112-pound-

Anthony, principal, announced today.

"Not enough boys have been interested in playing to warrant the excessive cost," said Dr. Anthony in making the decision public. Instead of football a full program of intramural activities will begin next fall. The present system will be enlarged and will ers in the Missouri Valley district that Beebe Rich is hanging up his gloves and will not compete in the fifth Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in the auditorium next month.

"In the last four years Rich has won the title three times. He was eliminated last year because of a damaged eye. In the nationals he has gone as far as the semi-finals and in his attempts always has been looked on as a distinct threat.

"His ambition was to scale the top among the nation's flyweights and this kept him trying year after year. Consequently, he became a barrier for other youngsters wanting to win the title here. Rich and his experience plus a great ruggedness made him a tough hurdle to clear.

"But Rich has decided to put his competitive days in the sport behind him and to satisfy his interest in amateur boxing as an assistant to Charlie Meyers, coach of the Municipal Boxing club.

"This decision leaves the 112-pound field open and establishes Bucky Miller of Sedalia as one of the favorites. But in this division there will be a half dozen others of about Miller's ability, creating a situation that should be appealing to followers of the tournament.

"From Kansas City, Kansas, will come Joe Anguillar, the strong little fellow who has won some inter-city bouts here. But Anguillar was beaten soundly by Miller earlier in the season.

"The Police club's Steve Lipari is one of the most promising of all the newer flyweights, but there is a loss to Anguillar against his record.

"Sharing honors as favorite with Miller will be Dick Montavon, who won the title last year and then advanced to the third round in the National Golden Gloves. Montavon is the stiffest of the punchers in this weight, Lipari the sharpest puncher but the least rugged while Miller seems to have a little of everything.

"And that isn't taking into account the flyweight champions who will be here as representatives of the dozen or more other tournament centers.

"With Rich dropping his name from the list all these candidates to the crown will be jubilant. It is what they have been waiting for."

How to Use Left-over Egg Yolks

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

Whip up a few whites and add them to your fruit gelatins. Beat the gelatine mixture when it begins to set, then fold in the beaten whites.

But what will you do with the yolks? With one egg yolk you can make half a pint of mayonnaise for your salads.

One Yolk Mayonnaise

One egg yolk, 1-2 teaspoon mustard, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, 1-8 teaspoon cayenne, 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice, 1-2 pint salad or olive oil.

Combine egg yolk, seasonings and vinegar. Add 1 tablespoon of oil and beat with rotary beater until oil and egg are thoroughly mixed. Continue adding oil, beating in 1 tablespoon at a time until mayonnaise begins to stiffen.

fen. Remaining oil may be beaten in 2 tablespoons at a time.

Chocolate Frosting

Or for your cup cakes, turn the egg yolks into a rich frosting.

Two egg yolks, 1 cup confectioner's sugar, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 cup milk, 3 squares bitter chocolates melted, 1 tablespoon soft butter, few grains of salt.

Combine ingredients in order given and beat with rotary beater until blended. Set bowl in pan of ice or ice water and beat until thick enough to spread (3 to 5 minutes).

Quick Cup Cakes

Reversing the problem, what can you do with the two egg whites after using the yolks? Here's the fitting answer.

One-third cup soft shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 egg whites, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 3-4 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 cup milk.

Put all ingredients into bowl in order given. Beat all vigorously for 2 minutes and bake as cup cakes in a moderate oven (375° F.).

Today's Pattern

Designed For Large Figures
PATTERN 8423

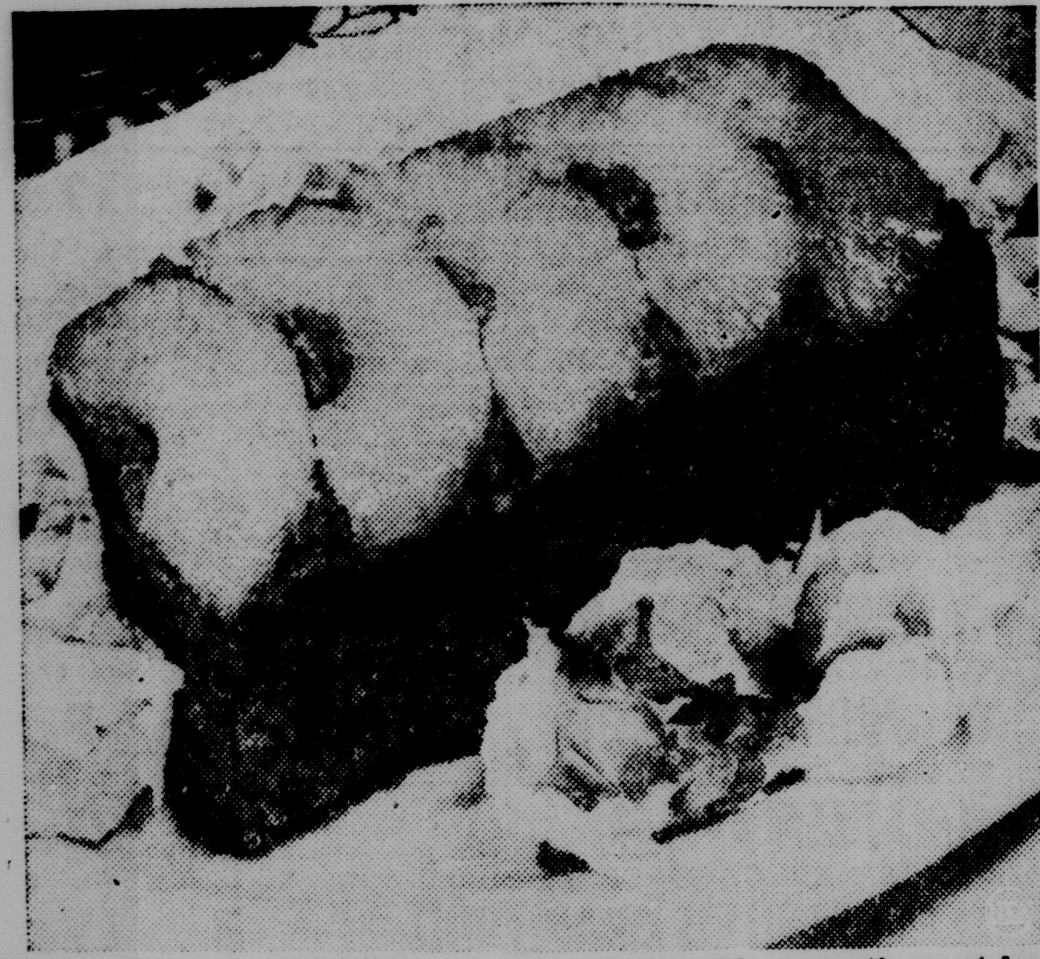

Have you had difficulty buying slips that fit as smoothly and snugly as they should, under your figure-molding dresses? So many large women have, and therefore we designed this slip (8423) on purpose to give you exactly the perfection of line that you want. We put darts under the arms, to take care of bust fullness and to prevent bulkiness, and darts at the waistline to make you look slimmer, and your dresses melt in without a line or wrinkle.

It's as simple as can be—only 4 steps in your detailed sew chart—but oh the difference in the way it fits! Pattern provides for both built-up shoulders and straps. Once you see how beautifully this slip fits, you'll want three or four like it, in satin or lingerie crepe. They'll cost mighty little, and be better quality too, when you choose the materials yourself.

Pattern No. 8423 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 3 yards of 39-inch material for built-up shoulders; 2 7/8 yards with straps; 1 yard of ribbon.

For a pattern of this attractive model send 15c in coin, your name, address, style, number, and size to The Democrat-Capital, Today's Pattern Service, 106 - 7th Ave., New York, N. Y.

Have all the new clothes you want this season House frocks, afternoon dresses, aprons and lingerie! And save money, besides! Send for our New Spring and Summer Pattern book, with more than 100 fascinating and original designs, for all sizes. The patterns are so easy. Each includes a detailed sew chart. One pattern and Pattern Book, ordered together, 25c. Book alone, 15c.

Ham, veal, spices and mushroom soup go into this aromatic meat loaf.

Pork supplies are bountiful. Try pork chops, split and stuffed, then baked to sweet and tempting succulence. Serve in the glass utility dish in which you bake them.

Culinary secrets. Success secrets. How to get them? The best friend hesitates to tell the knack of blending her flaky pastry. Why don't her feathery cakes fall? What is the secret of her fragrant coffee?

Even the fondest neighbor is reluctant to have an onlooker during her baking session. Yet nothing simplifies a cooking problem more readily than watching an expert at work.

The friendly Cooking School specialist will welcome a full audience of neighbors at the baking, broiling and frying operations in her model kitchen. Watch her measuring and blending with trained skill, cutting time and labor. Bring your questions to her for sage counsel. And bring notebooks and pencils to record her advice. Every minute will be worth-while during these carefully-planned demonstrations of household hospitality.

Athletes Are In Constant Danger Of Injuring Cartilages In Knee

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The knee joint is frequently weak because of looseness or the cracking of the semilunar cartilages.

These small, circular bodies which lie between the large bones of the knee and thigh, are frequently damaged in athletic performances. When the cartilage is loosened or broken, the knee will lock, become swollen and painful. During the football season just ended, several of the nation's leading stars were incapacitated for long periods of time by injuries to their semilunar cartilages.

Until modern surgery was greatly improved, operations on the knee joint used to be considered as extremely serious. There was always danger of secondary infection. For this reason, it was customary, in most instances, to permit swelling to go down, after which the knee could be put in proper position and permitted to heal. The athlete would often be incapacitated for two or three weeks.

If one does not plan to indulge in athletics to any considerable extent, he can easily obtain recovery simply by rest and application of heat with the use of a proper bandage or splint. However, if the young man or woman plans to continue in athletics or to practice ballet dancing, medical treatment does not bring about lasting results. Under these circumstances, removal by operation is now generally recommended.

In the last 20 years, operations have been greatly improved, and the safeguards surrounding the operation have been increased. Nowadays if the operation is performed by a competent surgeon of orthopedic surgeon and the after-care is satisfactory, there is likely to be little, if any, chance of a recurrence of this knee trouble.

One British authority reports that 92 per cent of the knees on which operations have been performed were just as good as the uninjured knees after a period of five years. In 98 per cent, the knee movements were perfect and in more than 80 per cent, there was no indication that there had ever been trouble with the knee.

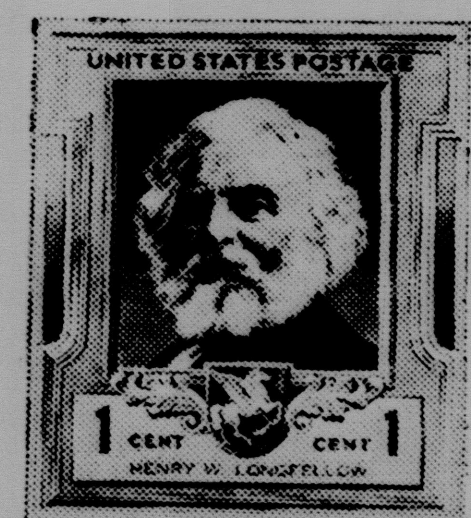

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it good manners to smoke in an elevator?
2. Is it good taste for a woman to smoke on the street?
3. Should a girl give a cocktail party and expect her men guests to furnish part of the liquor?
4. Do you really pay off a social obligation when you invite a person who does not drink to a cocktail party?
5. Is it rude for a man to talk with a cigarette hanging from his lips?

Stories in Stamps

SHOWN above is the design of the Henry Wadsworth Longfellow stamp of the poets group, second set of five in the Famous Americans series. The Longfellow 1-cent green stamp will be placed on first-day sale at Portland, Me., the poet's birthplace, on Feb. 16.

Longfellow's poetry is popular for artistic portrayal of simple, natural affections and sentiments. His "Song of Hiawatha," "Courtship of Miles Standish" and "Evangeline" are known to every school child.

Longfellow began writing poetry while in Bowdoin College, continued his verse for more than half a century. From 1836 to 1854 he was professor of modern languages and literature at Harvard.

Brazil has issued a single semi-postal for youth, depicting the three Wise Men, bearing gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. The Star of Bethlehem is shown at the left of the stamp.

The shortage of copper coins in Shanghai has forced the substitution of postage stamps for coins, especially for transportation. In South China old kerosene cans are being made into two-cent pieces.

Children Need Aid In Making Decisions

By Olive Roberts Barton

Should a child always be trusted to do the right thing?

- (a) No? (b) Yes? (c) Only when he's old enough to know? (d) Does he like to be told?

In most ways a conscientious child can be let alone much of the time and trusted to use his good judgment.

But although we may "trust" him to do the best he knows how, nearly every child likes to be told.

He gets tired of this, naturally, and being told every instant exactly what to do next becomes a frightful bore. So we have to watch and not nag.

This is why a child likes to be told; it saves wear and tear on his nerves. Having to decide everything for one's self is a nervous business.

In science, they call it "conflict." For example, you want to spend your money on a permanent and you know the furnace needs repair. For a week you lie awake trying to make up your mind to do the thing that must be done.

Jimmy won't lie awake a week, perhaps, but maybe he won't pay attention to the teacher or get his home work right, while deciding whether to go with Slim to skate or to the movies with Arthur.

When Jimmy Needs Help

Slim's crowd is always doing something risky, Jimmy wants the crowd's favor, but Arthur is safe. If you knew what was going on in Jimmy's mind, it would be a kindness to tell him what to do.

Children need a great deal of help in their decisions simply because conflict uses them up. They can say, "I'm not allowed to."

Yes, you are right, it would be poor policy to do all the deciding for any child. He must learn to make his decisions himself and take the consequences. I am merely suggesting that we help a little at times and not turn out unprepared children entirely on their own with, "You know what's right. Use your own judgment."
